Estimations of the scale, scope and cost of child sexual exploitation and abuse (CSEA) in the United States are alarming.<sup>1</sup> The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports that approximately one in four girls and one in 20 boys will experience sexual abuse during childhood in US,<sup>2</sup> while the estimated lifetime cost per child sexual abuse victim is $282,734 million.<sup>3,4</sup> The good news is that CSEA is preventable. A range of interventions have been identified to help prevent child abuse and sexual violence from occurring in the first place and to minimize the impacts on survivors and their families.<sup>5,6,7</sup>

Economist Impact’s Out of the Shadows Index, supported by World Childhood Foundation USA, was designed to shine a spotlight on state action—and inaction—to address CSEA. The assessment includes more than 170 metrics aggregated into 22 indicators and grouped into four categories to gauge the extent to which states have introduced essential measures to prevent and respond to this pressing issue. It aims to be a tool to highlight areas for prioritization, drive change, and benchmark progress.

State overview

Although Michigan has made important progress in tackling CSEA, more effort is needed to guarantee a comprehensive and holistic approach to this pressing issue. Specifically, more focus could be placed on improving prevention capacity and promoting survivors’ access to justice and compensation mechanisms.

State spotlights

Michigan’s Governor’s Task Force on Child Abuse & Neglect seeks to improve the handling of child abuse cases, including cases of CSEA. In particular, it has produced and updated several policies and protocols—such the Forensic Interviewing Protocol—to create key standards and improve consistency of practice among local teams.<sup>8</sup>

In 2023, Michigan passed a package of legislation to protect minors by raising the minimum age of consent for marriage to 18 without exception.<sup>9</sup>

Priority areas for future focus

Strengthen the legal framework against sexual violence by adopting a clear and explicit statutory definition of sexual consent.<sup>10</sup>

Boost prevention capacity through the development of a statewide child sexual abuse prevention plan or strategy, encompassing in-person and online abuse. Reforms should include:

- Mandating comprehensive sex education in public schools—including information about contraception and consent—that is evidence-based, culturally appropriate and inclusive of all students;
- Mandating age-appropriate child sexual abuse prevention education for all students in grades K–12 using evidence-based programs, including instruction on abuse that can be experienced online; and by
- Establishing required, regular training on child sexual abuse and teen dating violence for employees and volunteers of schools and other youth-serving organizations.<sup>11</sup>

Guarantee children have access to services of the highest standards by:

- Mandating the use of Children’s Advocacy Centers (CACs)<sup>12</sup> for all cases of suspected child sexual abuse; and by
- Ensuring that CACs across the state are adequately and consistently funded.

Support survivors’ access to justice and compensation by:

- Eliminating the criminal statute of limitations for all child sexual abuse crimes and the civil statute of limitations for child sexual abuse claims against all defendants; and by
- Reforming the state’s eligibility requirements for crime victim compensation to address potential barriers to critical financial assistance for survivors of child sexual abuse (eg, to cover costs related to medical and therapeutic care).<sup>13</sup>

1. The index and profile may refer to specific forms of child maltreatment or sexual violence (eg, child sexual abuse or child sexual exploitation) to distinguish between findings or areas of research.

3. $282,734 is the average lifetime cost for female victims of non-fatal child sexual abuse (CSA). For male victims, it is approximately $74,691 (although this lower estimate is likely influenced by the insufficient data available on productivity losses). The lifetime cost for victims of fatal CSA per female and male victim was estimated, on average, to be $1,128,334 and $1,482,933, respectively. All estimates pertain to the year 2015.

10. This definition should include reference to consent being “freely” or “voluntarily” given.
11. Michigan’s school district boards may adopt and implement a policy addressing sexual abuse of children. If a board does so, the policy may address age-appropriate, evidence-based curriculum and instruction for pupils in grades pre-K to 5 concerning child sexual abuse awareness and prevention, and training for school personnel on child sexual abuse, including, but not limited to, training on supportive, appropriate response to disclosure of abuse. Such instruction and training, however, are not required (MI Comp. Laws § 380.1505).
12. Children’s Advocacy Centers (CACs) are organizations located throughout the US that help facilitate a multidisciplinary and child-centered response to CSEA. These centers bring together several of the key actors—law enforcement, child protective services investigators, medical and mental health professionals, forensic interviewers, victim advocates, and more—under one roof, helping to minimize the number of times a child has to be interviewed and offering critical therapeutic and other support to children and their families.
13. Key barriers to accessing victim compensation include set timeframes for when an application can be filed and/or requiring a police report as a condition for eligibility.
14. The research for the 2024 index was conducted between March and September 2023. As such, the findings reflect the most recent available data at the time the research was completed.
15. “Comprehensiveness” is assessed based on the following standards: whether the state has a law or statewide rules, regulations or standards with the force of law requiring that sex education and HIV/STI instruction be evidence-based, medically accurate, culturally appropriate and inclusive of all students, and whether related courses are required to include information about contraception and consent.
16. This figure indicates whether statewide laws or policies explicitly prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and/or gender identity in all of the following areas: employment, housing, and education.
17. “National standards” refers to the National Children’s Alliance’s National Standards of Accreditation.
18. These indicators consider whether the state mandates specialized training for child protective services investigators, law enforcement, and prosecutors on CSA and/or trauma at regular intervals (eg, every two years). A separate indicator assesses basic training requirements for mandated reporters in the state more broadly.
19. This indicator considers whether state law establishing eligibility for the state’s Crime Victim Compensation Programs provides an explicit time frame exception that is applicable to survivors of CSA (eg, minor victims of crime have up to the age of 21 to file a claim).
20. This indicator assesses whether state law establishing eligibility for the state’s Crime Victim Compensation Programs provides alternatives to making a police report for survivors of CSA (such as reports made to child protective services, a sexual assault counselor, or a CAC employee; a restraining or civil protection order granted to the victim; or records from a sexual assault forensic examination). Limited, time bound, or vague exceptions to this requirement were not considered.
